

Affordable Care Act: Breast Pump Coverage

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) was signed into law in 2010. ACA requires most insurance plans to cover breast pumps. Many insurance plans allow you to order your pump prior to delivery. Start by contacting a Durable Medical Equipment (DME) company and find out if they participate with your insurance plan. The list below are DMEs that have breast pumps. If you have ever received a pump from insurance with previous pregnancies, please note some insurances only provide one pump every 2-5 years or one per lifetime. Check with your insurance to confirm.

Obtain a prescription for a breast pump from your OB provider (birth - 6 months) or your Primary Care Provider (if baby is 6 months old or older). You or your doctor may have to fax the prescription to the DME to have pumped shipped or to pick up the pump. It is highly advisable to make these arrangements, before your baby's birth.

Rental Pumps

Insurance companies usually do not cover the cost of a rental pump unless medically necessary. To rent there is a monthly fee, as well as the cost of the parts if you do not already have them. Infant scales are also available to rent, check availability.
